

Australian Rock Duo Air Supply to Perform at The Venetian Macao

*Hall of Fame inductees will bring their catalogue of hits to
The Venetian Theatre on Dec. 12*

(Macao, Nov. 25, 2015) – Air Supply is finally set to return to The Venetian® Macao almost three years after their last concert. The Australian duo will bring their melodic rock tunes to The Venetian Theatre on Saturday Dec. 12 with Air Supply Live in Concert. Tickets go on sale Thursday, Nov. 26 at all Cotai Ticketing box offices.

Since they met over 40 years ago, singer-songwriter and guitarist Graham Russell and lead vocalist Russell Hitchcock have entertained people all over the world with their classic songs including the top ten hit and arguably the groups most recognizable song “All Out of Love.” The song proved to be so popular internationally that it has been recorded by many different artists over the years, including Cantopop singer Alan Tam who made the song a hit in Hong Kong in 1981. Appealing to both seasoned fans of the group and newcomers, other Air Supply hits that fans can hear the rockers sing at the concert include “Lost in Love” and “Making Love out of Nothing at All.” The December’s concert marks the fourth time the duo has played The Venetian® Macao, having performed earlier in 2007, 2008 and 2012.

Air Supply has sold millions of records and their fans spans several generations and cultures. Fans of the duo’s rock music style and those who just love nostalgic songs are in for a fantastic night of entertainment when the duo returns to The Venetian Macao with Air Supply Live in Concert at The Venetian Theatre.
