Celebrities Visit “Penguins Undercover Ice World with the DreamWorks Gang” at The Venetian Macao

Ice sculpture exhibition runs until March 31

Penguins Undercover Ice World with the DreamWorks Gang, Asia’s largest indoor frozen ice sculpture exhibition, takes guests on a tour of the different settings of everyone’s favourite DreamWorks Animation characters at The Venetian Macao’s Cotai Expo Hall F. The exhibition runs daily from 11 a.m. - 8 p.m. until March 31, 2015.

A group of celebrities and their children were thrilled to visit the spectacular icy wonderland Feb. 7. The celebrities included Donald Tong, Bob Lam, Joyce Cheng, Tyson Chak, Edmond So, Calvin Choy, Edmond Leung, Cheung Shung Kei, Cheung Shung Tak, Lau Mei Kuen and HunterZ. The group was led by the Penguins themselves who introduced the families to their top-secret mission to explore the different worlds of the DreamWorks Animation characters, discovering what makes the holiday season so special for each.

Covering an area of more than 1,600 square metres, the fun-filled ice sculpture exhibition is divided into six themed zones. Both children and adults had a fantastic time among the array of ice renderings of the much-loved DreamWorks characters from “Shrek,” “Madagascar,” “How to Train Your Dragon” and “Kung Fu Panda”. Cameras were out in force as the families took a lot of photos with their favourite DreamWorks characters, particularly with the loveable characters from “Kung Fu Panda.” The children also enjoyed the frozen slide at the stunning ice rendering of the Jade Palace. With their mission completed, the Penguins took the families for one last photo opportunity, this time in a gondola with the Penguins where they all celebrated a successful undercover holiday operation.
