Introduction of Two Teams

---

Phoenix Suns

The team was founded in 1968, part of the Pacific Division in the Western Conference and plays its home games at the Footprint Center in Phoenix, Arizona. Although the Suns have never won an NBA championship, they have long been a powerhouse in the West, making multiple playoffs appearances and achieving remarkable success, including three NBA Finals trips (1976, 1993, and 2021).

Key players on the current roster include:

- Devin Booker (Two-time Olympic gold medalist and four-time NBA All-Star)
- Jalen Green (2021-22 NBA All-Rookie Team Member)
- Dillon Brooks (2022-23 NBA All-Defensive Second Team Member)

Brooklyn Nets

The team was founded in 1967 as the New Jersey Americans in the ABA, the team joined the NBA in 1976 and is now part of the Atlantic Division in the Eastern Conference. The Nets play their home games at the Barclays Center in Brooklyn, New York. Legendary star Julius "Dr. J" Erving led the team to two ABA championships (1974, 1976). After entering the NBA, the Nets experienced ups and downs before reaching their peak in the early 2000s, making back-to-back NBA Finals appearances (2002, 2003).

Key players on the current roster include:

- Michael Porter Jr. (2023 NBA champion)
- Egor Demin (8th overall pick in the 2025 NBA Draft)
- Nolan Traore (19th overall pick in the 2025 NBA Draft)

Clash of Young Talents

The Phoenix Suns and Brooklyn Nets have collectively drafted seven first-round picks over the past two NBA Drafts. These rising stars represent the future of both franchises, and the NBA China Games 2025 will serve as the perfect stage for them to showcase their elite potential.

New Additions, New Team

Both the Phoenix Suns and Brooklyn Nets underwent significant roster changes during the offseason, with multiple impactful acquisitions injecting new energy into their lineups. At the NBA China Games 2025, all eyes will be on how seamlessly these newcomers integrate into their respective systems and whether they can establish strong chemistry with their teammates.

First China Games of Phoenix Suns

As a perennial Western Conference contender led by superstars like Devin Booker, the Suns have built a massive fanbase in China. This year's NBA China Games will not only fulfill the long-awaited dream of Suns fans to see their team play on home soil but also provide Chinese fans with a rare opportunity to witness their favorite NBA stars up close.
